

Hold Funeral Services For Auto Crash Victims

Funeral services for two highway crash victims, Robert Schweizer, 55, and his wife Alida Lulu, also 55, former residents of Frankfort, were held Monday afternoon from the First Congregational church, Kankakee, with the Rev. Darrell Farnham officiating. Interment was in Mound Grove cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Schweizer were killed about 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon when their southbound car apparently skidded and then spun across the highway and into the path of a northbound car driven by the Rt. Rev. Gerald Francis Burrill, Episcopal bishop of the Chicago diocese. The bishop lost several teeth and suffered bruises and lacerations about the head. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital, Kankakee, and held there for treatment.

It was raining at the time of the accident and it was believed this was a contributory cause. According to the report of state police the Schweizer car had just passed another vehicle when it went out of control. Mrs. Schweizer was driving. Mr. Schweizer was an accountant and represented numerous firms, taxing bodies and individuals in the area. A couple of years ago he suffered a heart attack and since then had not driven. When he had to journey about the area on business his wife drove. They had been on a business trip last Thursday and were enroute to Kankakee. The accident occurred on U.S. 54, about a quarter mile south of Peotone.

The Schweizer car spun across the four-lane highway, the rear end striking the front of Bishop Burrill's car. The bishop was alone and returning to Chicago from a meeting of clergy of the South Deanery at Kankakee.

The Schweizers are survived by three sons and six daughters, Robert, of Chicago, Richard, in the air force at the Denver base and Randy, of Kankakee; Mrs. Patricia Pagoria and Mrs. Barbara Palanca, both of Chicago Heights; Mrs. Nancy Lanie, and the Misses Joyce, April and Marcia, all of Kankakee. A son, Alfred, preceded them in death.

Also surviving are eight grandchildren.

Mrs. Schweizer, who was born Alida Lulu March on Sept. 10, 1905 at Wataga, Ill., was married to Mr. Schweizer Aug. 21, 1927. Mr. Schweizer was born June 30, 1905 at Hoboken, N.J. Mrs. Schweizer is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Conrad Matson, Galesburg, and Mrs. Wesley Williamson, of Wataga, and one brother.

They resided at Frankfort for seven years, moving from there to Kankakee about three years ago. They resided at 998 E. Court St.

Mr. Schweizer was recently employed by the Frankfort and Mokena grade school boards as auditor and he was employed as a teacher, part of his time, at the Marycrest Business college at Kankakee and Joliet.

He was a member of the Lions club and of the National Association of Accountants. The Schweizers were members of the First Congregational church of Kankakee for which Mr. Schweizer was treasurer.

Mokena Chamber Would Unite Worthy Causes

A United Fund campaign patterned after other villages throughout the country, may be forthcoming in Mokena according to plans discussed by the Mokena Chamber of Commerce at the regular meeting Tuesday May 22. The group also approved plans for the annual Fourth of July fireworks display at Mokena Community park.

The United Fund, if effective would eliminate all charity drives with the exception of the united campaign.

The Chamber, in attempting to keep charity at home, has in the past made donations to all nation-wide drives. This was originally supposed to eliminate all collections from Chamber members operating local businesses. It hasn't worked-out that way and consequently the merchants have been hit twice, it was pointed out.

In the light of this, the group moved to cancel all donations for the balance of the year, or at least until the committee has time to study the matter fully.

At the meeting it was brought out that the idea would not be workable unless it was presented to the village council and had a proper ordinance drawn with some teeth in it. It also was suggested that the plan provide for payments on an installment basis. A monthly payment system was suggested. The real problem, it was stated seems to be arranging a plan that would give each authorized charity or agency an amount equal to that which it is now receiving from the community.

It was brought out that unless

AT TURTLE DERBY in Frankfort. The affair was sponsored by the Lions club there as a money making venture-and a very successful one too, it was reported. Above is a part of the crowd -- there is another segment showing many adults but they were looking the wrong way to fit them in with this picture of the turtles. Look something like blips on a radar screen, don't they? The turtles that is. That blip near the top of the picture was the winner--being the first one to emerge from the large circle. Below are the official judges, Mayor George Sangmeister (left) and Village Clerk Walter Pfaff. Behind them are a couple of the major prizes, a bike and a radio.

DENNIS PORICK

The Lincoln-Way speech department announced that Dennis Porick, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Porick of 11502 West 194th street, Mokena, has been elected by the University of Illinois to attend its summer theatre program.

Dennis is one of 16 students in Illinois to be chosen for this honor. He is a member of National Honor Society, the Thespian Speech Honorary, and has had an outstanding record in speech activities. His recent portrayal of Henry Drummond in the all School Play, "Inherit the Wind", was described as "especially praiseworthy."

an ordinance with a substantial fines for violators was adopted that it is apt to turn out like the Community Chest which when originally presented to the public was to meet all needs but turned out to be just an additional drive.

Merchants are the hardest hit by fund-raising drives, but the individual is hit two ways it was pointed out. The merchant operates on a cost-plus and has to increase his prices to off-set donations. This affects the customer who pays again when solicited at his home. The merchant is often times solicited at home also.

Will Tuttle, Chamber President, asked the committee to give the matter immediate consideration and present it to the village board as soon as possible.

A fireworks display will be conducted in Mokena village park July 4 at dusk under the supervision of Police Magistrate, James Surovic. The Chamber voted against a full-day's program. Unless some other organization decides to hold a program during the day the celebration will be confined to the fireworks.

Tuttle asked that the public relations committee to work closer with other organizations so that activities in the village could be better coordinated.

Discuss Frankfort Grade School Bond Election

With the Frankfort grade school district's $145,000 building bond election just 10 days away (June 10) board members and school administrators have been asked various questions by citizens seeking information on the subject.

Two points which appear to be of general interest, a spokesman stated deal with (1) the ultimate use of the new site off U.S. 45, north of U.S. 30, and (2) kindergarten.

The spokesman pointed out that in arriving at a decision to enlarge the present school plant now, the board consulted with various persons who are considered experts in the field of locating school plants and assessing school needs.

"After studying a survey taking in a projected population figure these men recommended we enlarge our present school now," the spokesman said, "and that would be sufficient for at least the next five years, perhaps longer. If at the end of that time more room is needed we could then develop the new site but on a smaller scale. The building for the new site could feasibly be a two to four room primary building."

The spokesman added that school authorities believe the request for kindergarten space is justified "on the basis of its proven educational soundness wherever it has been provided."

"Basically," the continued, "the kindergarten program provides opportunity to develop skills and adaptation to school routine before facing a full academic schedule. A kindergarten must follow a well organized program that meets state requirements to receive state aid.

"The building proposal before the public offers to the pupils of Frankfort a program with both the present and future needs considered."

Of the $145,000 bond issue which the board recommends for approval, $128,000 would be earmarked for construction of a proposed five-room addition with one room easily convertible into two rooms. The approximate cost, according to the architect's estimate is $13.55 per square foot. In many communities, it was pointed out, such costs run considerably higher.

The architect's fee is $7,700, based on a standard architect's contract, it was brought out, and an architect is required by the state if the building is to be approved.

It was also pointed out that $4,000 is to be used in improving toilet facilities, described as an urgent necessity; $1,000 is needed for entrance renovation; $3,000 for furnishing and equipping classrooms and office and $3,300 for sidewalks and black-topping.

The school board back in 1924 had to go to the people twice to build the present school. The first election was held on March 11 that year. The school was approved but the bond issue lost. On May 29 there was another vote and that time the bond issue carried, 193 to 90.

On April 9, 1938 the people approved a $16,000 bond issue to add a gymnasium. This was 55% of the total cost, the other 45% being supplied by the PWA. At that time the issue was approved 170 to 36. In 1950 a $10,000 issue for repairs and remodeling was approved 67 to 11.

"This brief history of the Frankfort school system emphasizes the good judgment and accurate foresight of the various school boards," the spokesman stated. "In each instance a board presented reasonable proposals concerning school needs and in each instance history proved them to be right. The recommendations before the voters today are just as sensible and far-sighted as those of past boards."

Applications for absentee ballots may be obtained at the principal's office at the school or from Mrs. Lois Hogsback, board secretary, at her home. Monday, June 5, is the deadline for applications by mail and Wednesday, June 7 is the deadline for applications to be picked up in person. The hours at the school will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Have Hopes For Flashers At Francis Rd. Crossing

A recommendation that the Wabash railroad be required to install flasher lights at its Francis road crossing -- now unprotected -- to warn of the approach of trains was made by a coroner's jury at an inquest conducted at the Baskerville chapel, New Lenox, last Saturday.

The inquest, conducted by Coroner Willard G. Blood, dealt with the death of Patrick Horan, 18, a senior at Lincoln-Way high, who was killed at 5:45 p.m. May 16 when he crashed into a southbound Wabash passenger train on Francis road.

The engine crew was exonerated of blame by the jury but it urged steps be taken to protect the crossing and to improve the visibility of motorists who approach it.

The death of Patrick Horan was the fourth to occur at that crossing within an 18-month period.

Steps to get protection for the crossing have been taken, it was learned Monday, by Gordon Cox, 109 Perry Ellen Lane, New Lenox, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors and Brakemen.

Cox's duties keep him in Springfield most of the time when the general assembly is in session. While there last week he went to the office of the Illinois commerce commission to ascertain if any request for installation of flasher lights at the Francis road crossing had been filed.

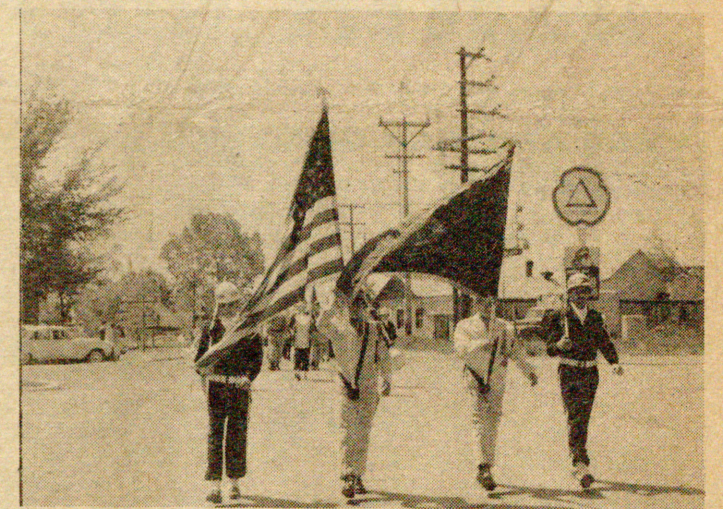

"They told me," Cox said, "that they had never had such a request but were interested and agreed to send an inspector to examine the conditions this week. James Wood, of Springfield, is the inspector assigned."

"I believe that we can get someplace with this. Representatives of the Maintenance of Way men's organization have offered to aid."

"I would appreciate," Cox added, "if any one who witnessed either cross tragedy, the one in December, 1959, or the one this month would get in touch with me."

The Horan boy was traveling east on Francis road and while the view of a motorist traveling in that direction now

Forty band members were guests of the Band Boosters last Sunday, May 21 when they motored to Chicago Heights to see the operetta High Button Shoes presented by the Chicago Heights Drama Group. Comments from the show by the group were praiseworthy as this was the first time that many of the students had seen a stage play. Perry Friedmann was a member of the orchestra.

EIGHTH GRADE BANQUET

Passport to the moon as the theme with cone shaped missiles as place cards and rocket shaped programs with various size stars and balloons extending from a dropped ceiling furnished the unique decorations for the seventh and eighth grade banquet and dance held at the Carpenter street school last Wednesday evening. In keeping with the decorations a "space man" complete with suit, boots and telescope, supplied by the Nike base of Orland Park, greeted the students and guests as they entered the gymnasium.

Following the banquet the welcoming address was presented by Mike Bernard and Lenny Lindstrom, seventh graders, to the some 94 students and faculty members. A response was given by Tom Hamilton and Betty Niedringhaus of the eighth grade. Class history was read by William Pommering; class will by Mike Ingram and Debbie Wojda and class prophecy by Carl Benson and Lerry Kelch.

Short remarks were given by the faculty members who are; Mrs. Elizabeth Cappel, superintendent, who due to illness was unable to be present; mesdames, Madeline Weber, Minnie Bignall, Marcella Lehmann, Minnie Pester, Marilyn Sievert, Jean Clark, Madeline Gregory and Miss Mary Donahue; also William Donaldson, Coleman Rogers and Perry Friedman. A special guest of the evening Mrs. Michael Diaguila, president of the PTA, also attended.

Class songs of the seventh and eighth grades preceded the presentation of gifts by the graduating class to Miss Mary Donahue and William Donaldson, seventh grade teachers and Mrs. Madeline Gregory and Coleman Rogers, teachers of the eighth grades.

Completing the program the entire group sang the school's fight song. Dancing was enjoyed by the students until 11:00 p.m.

NI Gas Stockholders Can Now Acquire New Shares

Northern Illinois Gas Co., in a letter to its common stockholders last week, disclosed that its previously announced rights offer will be made at a ratio of 16 to 1. The subscription price will not be established until June 22.

A registration statement covering the new issue was filed (May 24) with the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington.

Owners of the 7,200,579 outstanding common shares will have the right to subscribe at the rate of one new common share for each 16 held at the close of business on June 22. The 450,037 new shares to be issued will be the first general offering of common stock for new money since April, 1954, according to Marvin Chandler, NI-Gas president.

Under the schedule now contemplated, the warrants will be mailed to stockholders on or about June 22 along with a prospectus giving the terms of the offer and a letter of instructions. The rights will expire and become void at 2:30 p.m. Chicago time on July 11.

Standing by to purchase any unsubscribed shares is an underwriting group headed by The First Boston Corporation and Glore, Forgan & Co. Proceeds of the sale of the new stock will be applied toward the utility's five-year (1961-65) construction program, now estimated at $215 million, Chandler stated that $125 million of this amount will have to come from outside sources.

Northern Illinois Gas Company serves more than 730,000 customers in 303 communities in 20 counties in northern Illinois, generally outside the city of Chicago.

Here's an optimistic report for our senior citizens from Benjamin B. Kendrick, Life Insurance Assn. executive: "If 65 was a good retirement age in 1953, a somewhat higher figure would be more appropriate today".

The Personal Property Tax

The personal property tax is not a popular one--what tax is for that matter?--but contrary to wide spread belief it is quite legal and one may expect that it will be around for quite a spell.

Persons who have not paid their personal property tax by today will find that a penalty has been added. Real estate taxes may be paid in two installments, the first one being due June 1, and the second is due Sept. 1. The personal property tax, however, must be paid in full by June 1.

A special effort is being made this year by Will county officials to collect the personal property taxes that are delinquent as well as those due this year.

There is considerable clamor by various groups and organizations for another form of taxation that would possess the utopian features of being a lesser burden but at the same time producing more revenue.

The state has a sales tax on which it depends for most of its revenue. The state also has many other taxes that bring in quite a tidy sum when totaled but for the most part such taxes are earmarked for specific purposes. For example the gasoline tax revenues, like the motor vehicle license plate fees, are set aside for the development of highways. Despite this the Chicago Transit Authority is seeking to have the state add another cent to the gasoline tax and divert it to the CTA for the operation of the public transportation system in Chicago. And if the downstate legislators fail to keep alert the Chicago politicians are apt to slip it over.

The state can also impose a real estate tax, if it so desires. In the years preceding enactment of the sales tax law the state levied a real estate tax of 50 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. It dropped use of the realty tax because the sales tax was sufficient to meet its needs. But anytime the state wants to trot out the realty tax it is there, ready for use.

What these people mean when they say that another source of taxation is necessary is a state income tax law. But anyone who believes that such a tax would be a substitute is naive indeed and without knowledge of the spending ways of politicians who have a machine to maintain.

The personal property tax, if collected would solve a lot of problems so far as schools and other local taxing bodies--including the county--are concerned. There are more people with personal property than people who own real estate.

In Chicago few individuals pay personal property taxes. It is used there largely as a gimmick by precinct captains. If one turns out on election day and votes as directed his personal property tax is forgiven.

It is not strange then that such people come to look upon the personal property tax as an illegal measure and when they move to other counties they decline to pay it.

There is nothing illegal or unconstitutional about the personal property tax law. The Illinois supreme court has ruled on such points. Only 10 days ago the high court ruled on a case appealed by two lawyers in St. Clair county, one of them a former state's attorney there. They owed $501 in taxes and penalties on office furniture assessments covering the years from 1951 to 1956.

They contended that the multiplier system could not be used in setting personal property taxes and that haphazard assessments in arriving at personal property valuations were unfair.

The court ruled that assessments do not have to be based upon a personal visit by the assessor. It also upheld application of the multiplier system to personal property valuations.

The court also handed down a decision on another question that has been batted around some since the law was passed a few years ago. A board of review can apply multipliers to valuations in a township in order to bring them up to what it believes they should be.

Enforcing collection of personal property taxes has always been a touchy subject, politically, and there is also considerable work to the preparation and filing of suits.

State's Attorney Frank H. Masters has had suits filed every year to collect delinquent taxes, real and personal. Now with the new justice of peace system in operation it is apparent there will be a marked increase in the number of such suits, especially concerning personal property taxes.

It is the belief of various officials that the majority of those who oppose payment of personal property taxes do not understand the way the tax is distributed. Every taxing body in the county shares in it.

It is the belief of those familiar with tax collections that full payment of personal property taxes would make it possible to reduce the taxes on real estate, which now carries most of the load.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

This being the week in which Memorial Day was observed it was natural enough that when former service people got together they reminisced of their war time experiences.

There are no longer any veterans surviving who served the North or the South in the War Between the States; the ranks of the Spanish War Veterans and those who participated in the allied campaigns of the period are thinning fast and the old man with the scythe is beginning to cut quite a swath thru the survivors of World War I. There are millions, of course, who can talk at first hand of service in World War II and the Korean War.

World War I vets, having an advantage of many years in which to shape and polish their reminiscences and so are able to outshine some of the fraternity of later wars, all some of the World War II lads are coming along in this line and eventually -- we fervently hope, have the stage to themselves.

Veterans of the first World War may be heard to voice their pet likes and dislikes from time to time but there seems to be one thing which they agree--the Salvation Army was one outfit that did a good job but never made a big production out of it. Another thing--they may still be irked by some of the tactics employed by various organizations but hold no rancor for merchants and restaurateurs who may have charged them many times the prices paid by civilians.

They realized that it was the only way the merchants had of making up losses occasioned by the tactics of the service people.

Your correspondent was in the army and therefore had little opportunity to view the ways of sailors and marines in ports or base towns but he doubts they were any different.

Sure, restaurant meals were expensive but many times they were on the house, so to speak, without the house knowing it. You see in post towns with thousands of soldiers roaming about on pass restaurants were busy places. Usually there were crowds of men waiting near the cashier's desk, waiting for a chance at a seat.

It seemed like there was always someone who had finished his meal and on his way to the desk to pay his check, would slow as he neared the spot and the next thing he was a part of the crowd waiting for service.

After a few minutes he might offer the observation that business appeared to be very good indeed. This would be within hearing of the cashier. If he or she did not seem to recognize the speaker as a customer who had been served, the next move would be for the speaker to become restless.

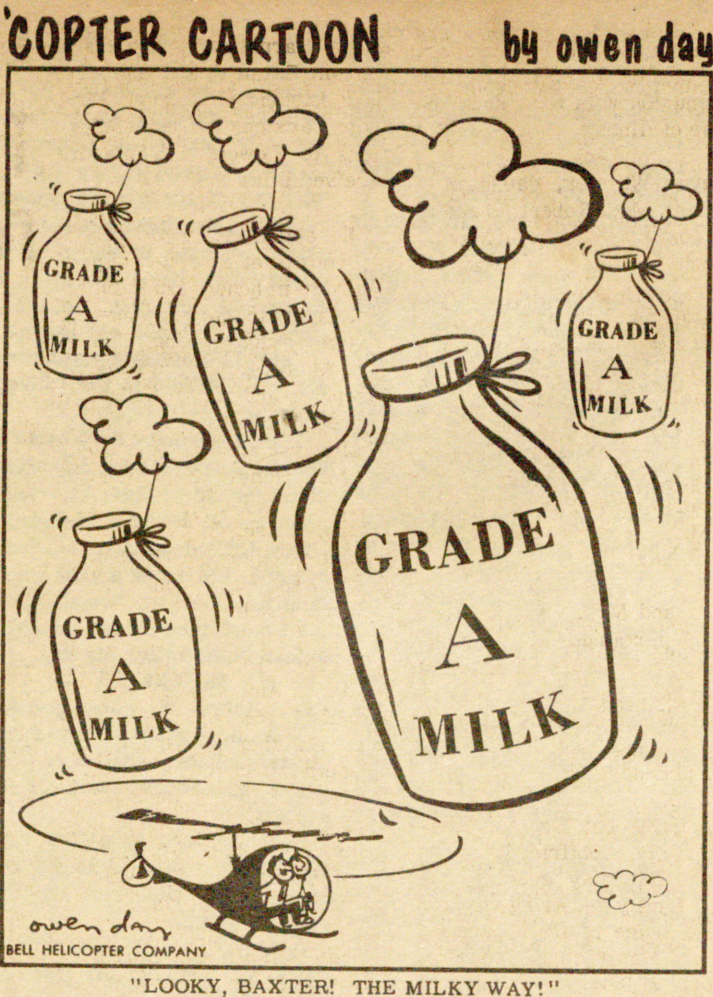

"I don't know if I can wait," he would volunteer. He would mumble something about having a date at a certain time, compare his watch with the restaurant clock, shuffle his feet, and then address the cashier, "Sorry but I can't wait... always enjoy my meals here, well see you another time," and out he would go with the check in his pocket.

The post town merchants took a real beating. They might steal from the soldiers but it is the belief of this observer that when it came to larceny the soldiers were well ahead. He recalls having been in a drug store at Junction City--the post town of Ft. Riley--sipping a coke when a soldier sauntered in and began looking at this and that. A clerk had shown someone -- maybe it was the advance man for the saunterer -- a Graflex camera and had carelessly left it stand on the counter.

The sauntering man ambled over and looked at the camera. He hefted it. He examined it minutely. Apparently none of the sales force noticed him. He waited a minute or so and then picking up the camera walked over to the counter knee deep in customers wanting films.

"Do you have a film that will fit this?" he demanded of a clerk who was trying to wait on two others at the same time. "Just a moment, please," the clerk entreated, and then when he was free asked what the man wanted. A film? Yes, indeed. He tossed out the proper film pack. The soldier shelled out the price of the film and sauntered out carrying the camera.

Your correspondent was going to a non-com school at Riley at the time. We were in tents and next to us were two complete outfits, an ambulance company and a field hospital company.

"LOOKY, BAXTER! THE MILKY WAY!"

Apparently complaints from the town had been lodged with the commandant of the post and he was eating out the unit officers.

The skipper of the ambulance unit had his men formed into platoons, the better to hear him. We could hear him too. "I am not going to talk to you as gentlemen," he began, because that is something you never were or will never be. I am not going to talk to you as soldiers; you are not that either. I am not going to talk to you as men because that contains an inference of integrity or honesty.

"I am going to talk to you as what you are -- a bunch of such and such thieves..." He went on from there, giving stress to such words as court-martial, guard-house and even Leavenworth. I believe he had originated from the south because he also mentioned Gen. Sherman's men on their march to the sea but Sherman's boys, it seemed, possessed considerable virtue when compared to his lads.

This seemed a bit far-fetched when one considers that as yet none of the troops at Riley had set fire to any of the homes in Junction City. And the story that had gone around that a colonel had arrived just in time to halt the loading of a field gun that had been trained at the spot on the map that said Junction City, probably had no truth to it. Anyway that had nothing to do with the ambulance outfit. The story about aiming a cannon at Junction City, if true, involved only a handful of drunken artillerymen.

Anyway the ambulance crew appeared to be somewhat chastened, not so much from the eating out as the fact that the whole blooming lot were re-constructed to the area, with absolutely no passes, until further notice. They also drilled -- early, late and often.

Whether the men would have broken down first, or the officers, under all this work is a question never decided because by the time another week had passed the ambulance boys were back in circulation again. The top kick, a friend of mine, told me all about it. It seemed that in making an inspection the company's Old Man discovered some of the equipment missing. He assembled the company again. This time he smiled genially.

"Men," he said, "I want to congratulate you on the way you have stood up against reflections upon your honesty and integrity. Beginning this week-end, I hope, passes will be available to all who want them. In the meantime, I would appreciate a little help in finding or locating some of our equipment that seems to have disappeared. It is possible that unprincipled persons in other outfits may have stolen it. Let us face it, there are dishonest people in the world."

"I will appreciate it (the skipper) was responsible for the equipment and if its disappearance became known in the right place he would have been billed for it, with resultant complications, if you men would be so kind as to look around and see if you can find it. It must be some place on the reservation. Let's see, 14 liters, an officer's tent, nine tires for the ambulances, a tent fly, possibly two dozen assorted splints for legs and arms and some odds and ends in medical supplies. I certainly hope you can find it before the week-end. Dismissed and you can start looking now."

The top told me that by the following afternoon the boys had really gone to town. They had brought in 25 liters (now all newly stenciled), three officers' tents, two tent flies, some 30 splints, four chests of medical supplies and two mules. The mules were turned loose. The rest of the stuff was locked up.

The Old Man deplored the necessity of putting everything under lock and key, the top sergeant said, but what could he do when there were light fingered people loose on the reservation? painted on the forehead of each animal. Most baits contain syrup and 0.2% of the insecticide DDT. The syrup attracts the flies to the bait and the DDT finishes the job.

University of Illinois plant pathologists say dusts are better than sprays for controlling diseases and insects on flowers. Dusts are easier to apply, they stick better when the foliage is wet, and you don't need special equipment to apply them.

The last time you chewed on a drumstick, you may have noticed that the meat next to the bone itself was a reddish brown. At this moment you were not probably thinking very pleasant thoughts. Mentally you blamed the farmer for the use of hormones in the feed, your wife for not cooking the bird long enough, and the marketing channels for hanging on to the bird so long. None of these reasons are correct.

We now live in an age of speed. We travel faster, prepare meals faster, and speed has also reached into the barnyard. A bit of exhortation has come with newly developed ration that help produce broilers and fryers in record time -- about 14 weeks. It previously took nine weeks. The bones of the chickens this young have not completely calcified or hardened. This condition liberates hemoglobin when the fryers are frozen and thawed. This material then moves through the

Business & Finance

By MAURICE P. ANGLAND

The Kennedy message to congress on Thursday, called for spending in the new fiscal year which would create a deficit of more than $3.6 billion. It also called for added expenditures in the following fiscal year which would amount to a considerable additional sum. The 1962 fiscal year starts July first.

The increase in the deficit came as no surprise to many of the leading financial students. Some of these commentators express the belief that the actual deficit will be greater than now anticipated. It is most difficult to estimate defense and foreign aid spending at this time. Such items must expand under pressure of combating Russian moves.

The Financial World of May 17, 1961, states, "The program being enacted in Washington -- a higher wage scale due to follow the increase in the statutory minimum, add to depressed areas, and more farm subsidies, to name only a few measures in being -- will probably have their greatest effect when business is climbing on its own steam. The resultant monetary effect should push many stocks higher."

The magazine goes on to state that security prices are being pushed along in the atmosphere of recovery and expansion. Rising security prices normally anticipate general business activity by several months. The stock market also will reflect rising commodity markets which follow industry demand. Last year, world commodity prices were weak due to spotty demand in the USA and Canada.

The article goes on to point out that rising commodity prices and wages with monetary inflation, raise over all costs. It is noted that many a corporation finds itself in a profit squeeze under such conditions. Stock prices, over a longer period, must bear a relationship to per share earnings. The article, however, states that in spite of the high price-earnings ratios, it is expected stocks will make further progress on the up side. The suggestion is made that investors maintain positions in better grade stocks and that the risk factor in speculative situations is rapidly increasing.

Business activity has been increasing on a broad front -- hard goods, soft goods, consumer goods, etc. Residential building shows signs of an up-trend after a period of decline.

Aluminum production figures are interesting in that it was not too long ago that some commentators on this metal's position, pointed out that the industry capacity excess would be a drag on its progress for some time. Now the industry is climbing close to its present production capacity. This situation has become repetitive in aluminum. Its use and new applications of use, have gone ahead much faster than any other major metal.

Plastics are moving into uses formerly reserved for steel. Du Pont reports that its plastic known as Delrin, reports a third of its production going into applications formerly using steel.

READ II CORINTHIANS 4:8-18

That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ. (1 John 1:3) Tradition speaks of the martyrdom of Matthew was killed by the sword, Thomas shot with arrows and put to death with a spear and Pe-e crucified head downward. Many early Christians suffered martyrdom.

We wonder sometimes why this should be the lot of many heroes of faith -- men in whom dwelt the spirit of Christ. They could not keep silent, for they had experienced the love of God. Torture and persecution could not stop them from proclaiming the good news of the redemptive power of Christ.

This long line of heroes of faith along the march of time stands as a challenge for all Christians today. There is a great need for spreading the wall of the bone, discoloring it and the meat around the bone. Cooking changes the red color to various shades of reddish brown. Poultry specialists at the University assure us that this bone darkening does not affect the quality, aroma, flavor, texture or even the taste of the meat.

THE LAW

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF ILLINOIS STATE BAR ASSOCIATION
IN COOPERATION WITH THIS NEWSPAPER

COMPLEX LAW OF CHECKS

Mary Evans drew a $6 check, payable to "Cash", and used it to pay for some groceries. When the bank returned the check with the monthly bank statement, Mary was shocked to find that someone had raised the amount to $60. She told her husband John, and he immediately notified the bank of the alteration.

A quick investigation established that the bank had cashed the check, and had paid $60, so that the alteration was made before the check was presented for payment by the unknown defrauder.

Several days later, John discovered that another of the checks returned with the bank statement was a complete forgery. It was apparent that an impostor had drawn a check for $100 on John's bank, and had signed John's name to it. John called the bank again to tell them of the second fraud, and again he was told that the bank had paid the full amount of the check.

BANK TAKES THE LOSS
Do you know the state of accounts between the Evans and their bank? Many people are surprised to learn that under Illinois law the bank cannot charge the Evans for money it paid by reason of the frauds.

As to the $100 forgery, the law required the bank to know the signature of its own depositors, and this duty prevails as against the most clever forger. Since John was a depositor, the bank wrongfully paid the check.

As to Mary's $6 check, which was raised to $60, Illinois law provides that the bank must pay checks drawn on it according to the original "tenor" of the instrument -- the amount for which the check was originally drawn.

Therefore, unless it can be shown that Mary's negligence led to the alteration, the bank must stand the loss. The bank is authorized to charge the Evans account only with the $6 for which the check was originally drawn.

Under Illinois law, the Evans could not recover from the bank if more than one year elapsed from the time the cancelled checks were returned to them before they notified the bank of the raising and forgery.

WHAT IS A CHECK?
A check is simply a written order directed to a bank to pay a stated sum of money to the person named in the check. The one who writes and signs the check is called the "drawer", the bank that is to pay the money is called the "drawee", and the person named to receive the money is called the "payee". If you sign on the back of the check you are known as an "endorser".

Some checks are almost the same as cash, and if lost can be negotiated by anyone who obtains possession. For example, checks payable to "Cash", or which are endorsed with the payee's signature, and nothing else, are almost equivalent to cash. They can be negotiated without endorsement, and it is easy for unauthorized persons to cash them.

For this reason, it is only to draw checks to "Cash" wise when you are ready to use them, and to wait to endorse checks you receive until you are prepared to cash them. For example, if a check is made payable to you and you want to send it by mail write on the back words such as "Pay to John Jones", and then sign your name beneath. By doing this, the check cannot be validly transferred unless Jones' signature is endorsed on the check.

It is always the safest procedure to draw and endorse checks to a named person. If you want to deposit in your bank account a check made payable to you, write "For deposit only" above your signature. Having done this, you can safely mail the check to your bank, and the money can be credited only to your account.

CERTIFIED CHECKS
Many business transactions are closed on the basis of a certified check, so that the parties to a certain check is good. When a check is presented for certification, the bank looks at the drawer's account to ascertain whether there are sufficient funds to cover the check. Then, money is set aside from the account in a special fund for the payment of that particular check.

Altho most of us use checks from day to day, few realize the complicated character of what lawyers call "the law of negotiable instruments."

(This column is written to inform and not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without consulting his attorney. Even a slight difference in the facts may change the result under the law.)

The Springfield Scene

By HAROLD A. HOOVER

(State Rep., 2nd Dist.)

The Illinois general assembly has approximately five weeks more in which to complete its work, and it appears that it is going to be a "warm" session before June 30.

Altho more than two thousand Bills have been introduced, less than one hundred Bills had been passed by both houses of the legislature and acted upon by the governor up to May 15. This means that we are building up for another "log jam" in the final days of the session. In 1959, the clock was stopped at midnight on June 30, (the last legal day of the session), and we remained in continuous session until about 1:00 p.m. on the following day. When legislation is enacted under these circumstances, it can lead to poor government, as it is impossible to give bills their proper consideration.

Another factor contributing to the heat of the final weeks of the session are the demands for increased government as well as greatly increased taxes. The governor's budget is the first budget in Illinois' history to exceed three billion dollars. In order to meet his budget, the governor seeks numerous tax increases and new taxes. To add to this problem, the mayor of Chicago, on the same day that the governor delivered his budget message, initiated action to increase the sales tax for municipalities by a half-cent. Naturally, there will be a great gospel of Christ to those in the world who still live in darkness. As Christians we can be missionaries in our own spheres of life.

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we beseech Thee to touch our hearts with the Holy Spirit that we may become missionary-minded. Instill in us the urgency of spreading the gospel to those who are still in darkness. Use us as instruments to proclaim Thy redemptive power. In Christ's name, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY:
Everyone can be a missionary in his own sphere of life.

amount of disagreement with respect to different phases of the governor's program. Likewise, there will be much disagreement on the means, and the necessity, for raising monies for these programs.

As a result of the proposals made by the governor and the major by many Democrats find themselves in a most unusual and somewhat embarrassing position. For example, the governor has proposed a half-cent increase in the sales tax, earmarked for schools. This is in addition to the half-cent for municipalities requested by the mayor. Two years ago when Governor Stratton asked for a half-cent increase in the sales tax, earmarked for schools, a great majority of the Democrats strongly opposed his proposal -- and now they find their leaders proposing twice as big an increase in the same tax.

As we are called upon to consider increased appropriations and increased taxes, I feel that we, as legislators, owe it to the people of the state to exert every possible effort to bring about greater efficiency and economy in government. Accordingly, I have again proposed a "Little Hoover" Commission for Illinois (H. B. #12). This bill has passed the house and is now pending in the senate. I feel that the creation of a commission of this type is the best possible way to make a thorough study and effect the greatest efficiency and economy. It has been done in our federal government, and there is no reason why it can't be done in our state government.

Announce Soybean Price, Support

According to Roy M. Smith, chairman of the Will county ASC committee, information has now been received to clarify land use requirements for 1961 crop soybean price support. A previous announcement stated that producers would be required to maintain their 1959-60 average acreage of conserving an idle land on the farm in 1961 to qualify for 1961 price support on soybeans.

For the purpose of this special requirement "conserving land" is farm land normally devoted to generally accepted conservation uses and "idle land" is all other farm land not normally devoted to crop production or to conservation uses.

Crop land normally devoted to crop production that was idle or remained in conserving crops solely because weather conditions prevented planting will not be included in the average 1959-1960 acreage of conserving and idle land.

The national average 1961 soybean price support rate has been announced as $2.30 per bushel.

Where O' Where Have Little Dogs Gone

It's dog license time again in the village of Mokena and as usual the canine population is way down.

According to the village clerk who assisted at the mass inoculation program last Saturday afternoon in the village hall 28 dogs were issued licenses and received shots; 14 of which reside in the village limits.

So far a total of 44 dogs have been issued licenses.

Last year it was stated 86 dog licenses were paid which means half of the canine owners are in arrears on payments to date.

Victoria Falls are in British Equatorial Africa.

New Lenox Nazarenes To Dedicate Church Sunday

Dedication of the New Lenox Church of the Nazarene, N. Cedar road and Wood street, is to take place this Sunday, June 4, at 3 p.m.

The dedicatory message will be delivered by the Rev. Mark R. Moore, superintendent of the Chicago Central District of the Nazarene church. This district covers an area extending from the Wisconsin line to Danville and takes in some 70 churches.

The Rev. Mr. Moore will also give the Dedicatory prayer.

The afternoon's program will begin with a prelude by the Mrs. Lawrence Crawford, followed by the invocation by the pastor, the Rev. Ralph Rice. The benediction will be pronounced by the Rev. Dallas Mucci, pastor of the Tinley Park Church of the Nazarene, who played a prominent part in the formation of the New Lenox church.

The New Lenox church was formed about two years ago and the first meetings, at which the Rev. Mr. Mucci served as pastor, were conducted in the Lions Den.

When still only a few families were enrolled plans were started for the church building and pastor's residence, a two-story brick structure, that is to be formally dedicated Sunday.

Carol Marti Weds Donald Klotz In Church Ceremony

Five attendants preceded Miss Carolyn Kay Marti to the altar of St. Mary's church, Mokena where she recited nuptial promises with Donald William Klotz of Frankfort at 3 o'clock the afternoon of May 6.

The Rev. Cecil Koop performed the double ring marriage ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Marti, Carpenter street, Mokena and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Klotz of Frankfort.

Guest soloist was Mrs. Shirley Klitz who also played appropriate wedding music at the organ.

Escorted by her father to an altar bedecked with white gladioli, the bride wore a floor length gown of white silkened taffeta with Alencon lace embroidered in pearls and crystal beads fashioning the portrait neckline and the elbow length sleeves. A back panel of the lace inset in the full skirt created an interesting decor on the chapel train.

Her elbow length veil of silk illusion was caught to a sequin dotted pearlized wreath accented by twin cabbage roses. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and cymbidium orchids.

Miss Sharon Kuckenbecker, attended the bride as maid of honor. She was garbed in a waltz gown of sea jewel aqua taffeta with a flared skirt and brief cape collared jacket. She wore a tiny matching taffeta hat and carried a colonial bouquet of tinted turquoise and white carnations.

Attired in gowns of identical design were Miss Joan Marti sister of the bride, Miss Diane Sorensen, Miss Shirley

Name Remien Treasurer Of L W District

Howard Remien of Frankfort was appointed treasurer of the Lincoln-Way district last Thursday night when the Lincoln-Way high school board had its regular meeting.

With all members of the board present, the election results of the May 20 successful tax referendum were canvassed and a resolution was passed. The payment of the judges and clerks for services at the referendum was approved. Also okayed was payment to the maintenance men of the schools for setting up voting booths and tables at the polls.

The resignation of Rosalie Johnson, chairman of the girls' physical education department was accepted by the board. She resigned to accept a position at the college level in the east. Martin Mackay requested a year's leave of absence in order to continue his studies. This was granted by the board members.

Because the clerical staff was dissatisfied with salary raises offered by the board last March, a new salary offer was made. The raise would be about $180 a year for each employee.

The low bid of $2,352 by the Joseph Goder company for a new incinerator and its installation was accepted by the board. Members also agreed to sell the 1958 station wagon, owned by the school, at an auto auction.

The bookkeeping system of Consolidated Accounting System, Inc., was adopted. Also adopted was the summer home counseling project under the N. D. E. A.

It was announced by A. Hunter Chapman, principal, that Don D'Amico, Mrs. Della Hussey, Kevin McGovern and Joseph Lashmet will attend the summer improvement program at the University of Chicago.

Rock Island

Opposes CTA

Subsidy Plan

The Rock Island railroad is seeking aid from its commuter passengers in combating the campaign of the Chicago Transit Authority for a state subsidy to operate the Chicago bus and
"L" systems.

The Rock Island contends that it cannot compete against a tax supported transportation system and that if the CTA gets its way the five commuter railroads serving Chicago would have to abandon service.

The other roads listed as affected by the proposed CTA subsidy program are, the North Western, Illinois Central, Burlington and the Milwaukee.

The CTA is seeking to extend its service into suburban areas along the Northwest Expressway and the soon to be completed Southwest Expressway, it was stated. A Rock Island spokesman says that if the CTA is "permitted to do this at public expense then the privately owned commuter railroads are doomed."

The railroad is asking commuters to write their state representatives and senators and urge them to oppose the CTA plan, which calls for an increase on the state gasoline tax and on property so that such increase may be diverted to its use.

Mayor Daley of Chicago and
Gov. Kerner are said to be behind this legislation.
